

Question 1

Official Certificates should only be required when a material difference in public, animal or plant health exists between the parties as relevant to the trade in the specific commodities-and trade without a government to government assurances is likely to result in the introduction of a measurable risk to human, animal, or plant health?

- How can this be implemented?

- What are the impediments to implementation (within your national system)?

Question 2

How do we minimize the need for certificates?

Question 3

How do we minimize the number of prescriptive attestations appearing on official certificates?

Question 4

How can we encourage use of the Codex Generic Model Official Certificate and existing Codex Standards?

Question 5

What themes have you heard this morning and afternoon that we might wish to discuss in more depth at this meeting?